Here are my comments as follow.

1. You break microsoft up you are just creating not 1 but more than one monopoly. Becuase no matter what The so called computer era that we live in is based and will always revovle around. Yeah you take people that are like me and apt to try something different for example Linux yeah it is great and all but it has more downsides that i dont like and i think windows is still a better OS. What i am trying to say is that people right now are not ready for change they are use to WINDOWS AND OFFICE. It took the common person a long time to learn anything about computers and what have ya. And you are pretty much saying that you are gonna go screw it all up and make them relearn to fit the new "Standard" For me and many other people yeah it wouldnt be hard but for the common person it would be another challenge that they dont need to deal with it.

I may sound stupid and all but think about it really hard and maybe just maybe you will see where i am comming from

Thanks
